

Participants Wanted for a Research Study about Latina/o/x Identities

Why: This project seeks to learn more about how individuals of Latin American ancestry think about race, skin color, identity and if these ideas vary by region. You are being asked to share about your experiences and ideas.

What: You will be asked to participate in a 1.5-2 hour focus group. We will provide food and refreshments!

Who: Must be 18 years or older and of Latin American Heritage. Must be living or have grown up in the East Coast of the U.S.

When: Tuesday, November 5

Where: Focus groups will be held at PRLACC 12:30-2pm & Oak 401 5:30-7pm.

This research is being done under the direction of Dr. Daisy Verduzco Reyes, from the Department of Sociology at the University of Connecticut. All participation and responses are voluntary and confidential. To learn more about this project and/or to participate, please email Nabil Tueme at nabil.tueme@uconn.edu.
